This third supplement to the 1962 catalogue follows the section headings it laid down:

1. general works on blindness
2. medical aspects
3. administrative aspects
4. individual and social aspects
5. education and rearing of children
6. rehabilitation (general works)
7. vocational rehabilitation
8. social and general rehabilitation
9. literature for the blind
10. partial sight
11. the war blinded
12. deafness and deaf-blindness
13. other handicaps; multiple handicaps
14. old people (general)
15. biography
16. literature by the blind

The loose-leaf pattern has been followed. Each set of supplement sheets have been numbered to follow those issued previously so that the new sheets can be inserted at the end of the corresponding section. As before entries which could be assigned to a number of sections have only been listed once, where - it is hoped - the reader would instinctively look first.

This supplement follows the arrangement of the 2nd supplement. Entries appear in alphabetical order within the sections, not chronologically as in the original catalogue. All entries are dated, even if the date is only an approximation.

Copies of the 1962 catalogue and the 1st and 2nd supplement are still available from the Reference Library.

Some notes about the Library

The R.N.I.B. Reference Library is a specialised collection of letterpress works on blindness and associated subjects. This material includes books, pamphlets, periodicals, government publications, conference reports, newspaper and magazine cuttings, off-prints, and unpublished material in manuscript form. A comprehensive collection of annual reports of nearly all British voluntary societies for the blind is available for reference, as well as a number of foreign annual reports. There is also a small collection of photographs.

All items in the catalogue can be consulted in the Library which is open from 9.30am to 5pm from Monday to Friday. Most items are available on loan, but it is stressed that requests must be made through another library, not directly by individuals. Local municipal and county libraries, as well as the libraries of universities, training colleges, societies, etc. can make such requests.
